

A Message from the President

Leland M. Hairr
Mayor
Lloyd Harbor

The Suffolk County Village Officials Association (SCVOA) is a not-for-profit organization consisting of 32 incorporated villages. SCVOA continues to be a platform of support for village government.

This year our villages will have to contend with many challenges. Economic conditions will limit available funds from the County and State while the cost of infrastructure improvements and operating expenses are increasing dramatically.

A major benefit of active participation in SCVOA this year will be in shared communication of the issues, our individual and collective experiences, and how to best meet the challenges we each face in our villages.

I look forward to interacting with each of you and promoting increased dialogue on issues of concern.

We hope you find this directory helpful and encourage you to visit our website at www.scvoa.org, which lists upcoming SCVOA events and highlights front-burner information affecting village government.

Sincerely,

Leland M. Hairr, Ph.D

About the Suffolk County Village Officials Association

The Suffolk County Village Officials Association (SCVOA) was established more than 60 years ago as the professional organization for Suffolk County's incorporated villages. With government issues and municipal management becoming more complex in recent years, SCVOA has grown into the role of chief lobbyist and public policy advocate for the county's villages.

Suffolk's incorporated villages represent the foundation of the county's economy and residential development. Most of the early Suffolk County settlements — some which pre-date the Revolutionary War — were shoreline communities that grew into thriving downtown centers and became the economic backbone of the county for many years. Post World War II suburbanization shifted commerce and residential developments away from many of these bustling communities and towards malls and tract development housing, bringing a host of new survival challenges for many Suffolk County villages.

Today, SCVOA represents the county's 32 incorporated villages, ranging from Lindenhurst, one of New York State's largest villages with a population of nearly 28,000, to Dering Harbor, the state's smallest village, with just 13 year-round residents.

SCVOA hosts meetings with informative guest speakers and noted experts to help provide village officials with timely and useful information on cutting-edge public policy issues.

SCVOA works in partnership with other associations to help coordinate its advocacy efforts. Its participation in the Tri-County Village Officials Association — which also represents Nassau and Westchester Counties — allows these three populous downstate suburban counties to work as a single, united force when issues of common concern arise. SCVOA's strong alliance with NYCOM — the New York Conference of Mayors — brings member villages a wealth of information and support about how Albany actions effect local municipal governments.

To find out more about upcoming events and conferences, please visit our website at www.scvoa.org.
